

OUR PROMISE FOR THEIR FUTURE

2012 ANNUAL REPORT

OUR PROMISE

Dear Keepers of Our Promises,

Keeping our promises. It's one of the first things we learn. On the playgrounds these first weeks of school, thousands of elementary school children are reminding each other of this important concept with a simple phrase that crosses generations: "Do you promise?" Even the littlest among us knows that answering "yes" to that question means being accountable for our actions. So what do we promise to our children and their children's children? Can we promise them a seat in our classrooms? Are we willing to make this commitment for today? For future generations?

This annual report will show that you have allowed us not only to say "we promise," but to fulfill that promise with power and action. Because of you, 1,400 students heard that promise this year. And thanks to your gifts to our endowment programs — which continue to grow — we will be able to make the same commitment to even more of tomorrow's children. Thank you allowing us to make, and keep, this promise.

Now that we've promised seats in our classrooms, what else are we willing to commit to once children are in those seats? Safety? A chance to know and love their God? Character? College? Readiness for the world in which they will live? The answers are clear, and we are absolutely committed to making these promises and keeping them! Thanks to you, this annual report describes how we have been able to assist our school leaders in making and keeping these promises at extraordinary levels.

These are hard promises to make and hard promises to keep, but we believe they must be made to fulfill our mission. Thank you. Thank you for being the caretakers, the Keepers of Our Promises.

Gratefully,

Fr. Michael G. Ryan, Chair

MISSION

"School is one of the places I feel at home, my teachers are amazing, I can literally feel myself getting smarter every day."

– Zoe, Eastside Catholic

PROGRAMS

Tuition Assistance

For families facing severe economic hardship, a Catholic school education provides stability, hope, and knowledge to transform their future into a world of promise. The sacrifices they make to attend our schools are extraordinary — a testament to the true value of the nurturing and faith-filled environment for which Catholic schools are known. Through the "Fund a Student" program, donors support individual students with grants of $1,100 per student and receive letters of thanks from those they fund.

Grants for Schools

Some schools face persistent budget challenges, while others struggle to fund emergency repairs, safety improvements and deferred maintenance. Each school's challenges are unique, so we employ individualized approaches to address the needs of each. This year we successfully matched donors to schools that share their interests, facilitated the exploration and implementation of innovative models, and distributed more than $1.3 million to schools, all so that these communities can maintain their quality academic programs and remain viable for years to come.

Grants for Educators

The Star Grant program funds creative initiatives for the classroom to enhance learning and encourage innovation by our teachers. Fulcrum also proudly supports the development of future leaders in our schools through continuing education initiatives at the University of Notre Dame.

"I like Catholic schools because we get to help in senior lunches, volunteer to help others and go to Mass."

– Kelly, Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic School

"The most important part of Catholic school to me is getting to live my life fully, without leaving God at home: My school lives as my family does! That's something to be proud of."

– Marcus, Holy Family Catholic School, Auburn

"My favorite part about Catholic schools is that I know I'm on the right path for my future and am receiving a great education."

– Keane, Bishop Blanchet High School

COMMITMENT

"Your generosity has made it possible for my children to attend a truly wonderful school and be part of a tremendous community."

– Matt Makowicz

THE MAKOWICZ FAMILY Matt (father), Grantham, Ethan, Isabel, & Remington – St. Cecilia Catholic School

Matt Makowicz is a single father of four children: Grantham (12), Ethan (10), Isabel (8) and Remington (7). The family was living in New Jersey, but when things fell apart financially and they lost their home, they moved to Bainbridge Island for a fresh start.

The Catholic faith is very important to his family and Matt immediately registered at St. Cecilia parish. Even though the children had been in Catholic schools in New Jersey, he didn't think about enrolling them in the school because he saw it as a financial impossibility. The pastor, Fr. Emmett Carroll, S.J., and principal, Elizabeth Chamberlin, encouraged Matt to come in and meet with them even though they knew of Matt's financial hardship. Feeling that St. Cecilia School could give the children a safe, stable and caring environment, they persuaded Matt to enroll the children thanks to financial aid from both the school and the Fulcrum Foundation.

St. Cecilia has become a second home for the Makowicz family, where the children have been nurtured spiritually and academically. It is a loving community that for Matt and his family is irreplaceable.

INSPIRATION

“Catholic school has taught me responsibility, respect, service, and leadership, as well as the importance of perseverance.”

– Santiago Wilches

THE ACUNA/WILCHES FAMILY

Martha Acuna (mother), Santiago & Philippe Wilches – Bishop Blanchet High School

Martha Acuna and her two sons, Santiago and Philippe, have had a difficult life. When Philippe was five years old and Santiago was nine, they were involved in a tragic car accident. Philippe suffered permanent brain damage and is confined to a wheelchair. Santiago also suffered a brain injury and was temporarily paralyzed, but miraculously he made a full recovery.

An additional hardship was fearing for their safety in their native country of Colombia, where drug trafficking and guerilla violence is prevalent. Martha was a nurse who was forced to care for injured guerillas. If she refused, she and her family would be persecuted. Her only hope for safety and survival was to leave the country.

Martha and her sons came to Seattle in 2007, although her husband has had to remain in Colombia. At the time, they didn't speak English. Santiago is gifted in math and science, but struggled because of the language barrier. After a difficult time in a public school, he was enrolled in eighth grade at St. Brendan School with assistance from Fulcrum, so he could live out his Catholic faith and receive the personal attention he needed to learn English. An ambitious student, he studied before and after school and during breaks to catch up to his peers. Now a senior at Bishop Blanchet, Santiago is in the National Honor Society with a 3.7 GPA and has ambitions to be an engineer like his father.

When Theresa Hagemann became principal of St. Therese School, Seattle, in Spring 2011, she was faced with an enrollment that had declined for more than a decade, hitting a low of 91 students the previous fall. Her first act as principal was to launch a pre-kindergarten program, knowing it would help level the enrollment trend. But that alone wouldn't reverse years of decline.

Recognizing a bold strategy was needed, the school vied for an opportunity to become only the second blended technology learning Catholic school of its kind in the country. Out of dozens of applicants nationwide, St. Therese was selected by Seton Education Partners to adopt an innovative model which combines computer-based, individually paced learning with small-group, traditional classroom instruction.

Fulcrum assisted by providing financial assistance for the initiative, as well as increased tuition assistance to bolster enrollment. It also leveraged its relationships with industry leaders, partnering the school with volunteer experts in technology and finance to help build a long-term plan for the school's success.

This fall, the school opened its doors as St. Therese Catholic Academy, welcoming 180 students — 70 percent of whom come from families in need. For the first time in years, the school sees a bright future ahead.

JUAN DIEGO ACADEMY

Holy Rosary, Tacoma, Opens the Region's First Dual-Immersion Catholic School

Holy Rosary, Tacoma, has been a visible landmark along the I-5 corridor since the freeway's construction, and predates the thoroughfare by nearly 80 years. Once the heart of its surrounding community, the school has been challenged in recent years with steeply declining enrollment, and also with maintaining an enrollment representative of the changing demographics of the region — most notably the increase of Latino and Hispanic families in the area.

Recognizing the need for change, Principal Tim Uhl, Holy Rosary's pastor, Rev. Jacob Maurer, and the Catholic Schools Department partnered with Fulcrum to find a solution. Fulcrum's Diversity Committee saw an opportunity to grow the school's enrollment and directly serve its surrounding multicultural community. With targeted financial assistance, Holy Rosary School is becoming a Juan Diego Academy, the region's first two-way, Spanish/English, cultural and language immersion Catholic school.

Beginning with the pre-k and kindergarten classes, the school will transition to this new model over the next nine years, grade by grade. However, the positive effect of the change already is undeniable: both pre-k and kindergarten classes are full for the first time in the school's long history, fueling a 33 percent enrollment increase school-wide.

"This initiative can lead to greater enrollments in schools and provide a superior educational opportunity for all children."

*– Dr. Luis Fraga, Trustee
Fulcrum Foundation Board*

COMMUNITY

LEGACY SOCIETY

Many of the Fulcrum Foundation's benefactors have made a significant future gift by including the Foundation in their will or estate plans. Planned gifts provide a pipeline of support that augments outright gifts and results in a future stream of funding for our schools. We are deeply grateful to the members of the Legacy Society. Also to be commended is our Legacy Advisory Council for their support in helping us steward planned gifts.

CELEBRATION OF LIGHT

The Fulcrum Foundation united more than 1100 supporters of Catholic Education at the milestone tenth-annual Celebration of Light, the region's signature event to celebrate and support Catholic schools. Each year, Catholic school supporters come together to honor the achievements of our schools and contribute to their continuing success. This year's event raised an unprecedented $1.34 million, supporting Fulcrum's mission to keep Catholic schools open and accessible to all.

AMICI

Amici ("Friends" in Italian) is a group of active and altruistic young professionals dedicated to supporting the mission of the Fulcrum Foundation through volunteering, outreach and fundraising. This past year, Amici partnered with St. Therese Catholic Academy. Members worked closely with faculty and staff to come up with creative ways Amici's young professionals could contribute to the vibrancy of the school community, including service projects and fundraisers.

The Fulcrum Foundation serves as the umbrella organization for individual school endowments. By combining resources under the Fulcrum Foundation, local schools benefit from the advice and services of Fulcrum's fund manager and enjoy a reduced fund manager's fee, while retaining discretion to invest their portfolios according to a range of choices.

We are grateful to have received the generous support of more than 1,200 donors this year, and are particularly pleased to have earned the confidence of 285 new Fulcrum Foundation donors. With this report, we gratefully acknowledge those who have supported our mission over time and those who made gifts this fiscal year. This list includes employers who provide gifts through workplace giving and matching gifts. The collective generosity of our donors brings us ever closer to our goal of making Catholic education accessible to all who seek it.
