2024
Community
Report

MISSION: Fulcrum strengthens the vitality, excellence, and sustainability of Catholic schools through funding and thought partnership.

VISION: Guided by Catholic values and beliefs, we envision a world where vibrant and innovative Catholic schools offer hope and pursue the common good.

VALUES:

One Human Family

- Informed by our Catholic faith, we act in communion with all.
- We serve everyone—all races, genders, abilities, cultures, faiths, sexual orientations, and backgrounds.

Justice

- We increase access to Catholic education, especially for those furthest from educational justice.
- Dignity, respect, and belonging are core to everything we do.

Stewardship

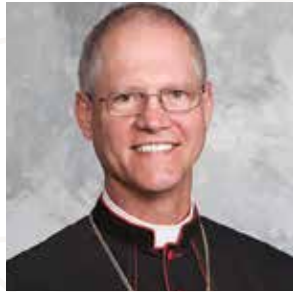

- We leverage and grow talent and treasure to ensure Catholic schools thrive into the future.
- We honor our donors and supporters through transparency and integrity.

From Archbishop Etienne

Sole Member, Fulcrum Foundation

Allow me to express my heartfelt gratitude for your unwavering support and dedication to the Fulcrum Foundation and our Catholic schools of Western Washington. Your generosity and commitment have been instrumental in nurturing our students' faith, character, and intellect.

Our Catholic schools stand as beacons of light in our community, providing a rich, values-based education that shapes not only the minds but also the hearts of our young people. The impact of a Catholic education extends far beyond the classroom, fostering a deep sense of community, compassion, and purpose. It is through your support of Fulcrum that we can offer an environment where students can grow spiritually and academically, preparing them to become leaders who live out their faith in every aspect of their lives.

In the year ahead, we are excited to build upon the successes of the past and address new opportunities and challenges. The Fulcrum Foundation is committed to enhancing our school facilities, expanding resources for our teachers, and ensuring that our schools remain accessible to all families, regardless of their financial situation. Your contributions make these aspirations possible and ensure that we continue to provide an excellent education grounded in Catholic values.

Please keep our schools, students, and educators in your prayers, and know that your contributions and partnership are deeply appreciated. May God bless you abundantly for your kindness and generosity.

As always, I remain,

In The Heart of Christ,

Most Rev. Paul D. Etienne, D.D., S.T.L.
Archbishop of Seattle

From Our Leadership

Chair of the Board & Executive Director, Fulcrum Foundation

Dear Friends,

We are honored to share the good news of another successful year for the Fulcrum Foundation. Thanks to the dedication of over 2,000 educators and the generosity of each of you, Fulcrum continues to be a beacon of light and hope for Catholic education throughout Western Washington.

As we travel around the archdiocese visiting the schools and families we serve, we are reminded time and time again of the transformative power a Catholic education provides young people. Catholic education has stood the test of time. It is a tradition that builds character, instills moral values, and provides our children with an exceptional foundation for their future. None of this would be possible without the unwavering support of people like you—you who believe in the power of education and the importance of nurturing young souls in a faith-filled environment.

We know that our students are the future of the Catholic Church, so we work with fervor to help them grow closer to Jesus. We hope you take pride in knowing your support ensures these young disciples will become the next generation of leaders in the Church and in our world.

On behalf of the Fulcrum board, our staff, and the 21,000 young people you are supporting, thank you for standing with us and renewing your steadfast commitment to our work. Together, we are changing lives.

With gratitude and hope,

Tony Audino

The Gutierrez Family's Journey

Like all parents, Mario and Erika Gutierrez dreamed of a successful life and a bright future for their four children. The couple had met and married at St. Anthony in Renton and fell in love with the community. Mario worked long hours for an irrigation company and Erika supplemented their income as a Spanish language tutor. Despite their hard work, the family struggled to cover basic living expenses, let alone the costs of education.

Their faith and determination carried them through, and they never once lost hope that God would provide. When Anasofia (now 24) was approaching kindergarten, Mario and Erika wanted to ensure she had the best possible start. They knew their parish school was renowned for its strong academic program and nurturing environment. However, the tuition was beyond their reach.

Undeterred, Erika reached out to the school's principal and learned about the (then new) Fulcrum Foundation and their tuition assistance program funded by generous donors. With a glimmer of hope, she applied for financial aid, praying that they would be able to afford the education they so deeply desired.

Months later, the family received the news they had been hoping for: they were awarded a tuition assistance grant from Fulcrum which was matched by St. Anthony School. Overwhelmed with gratitude, mom and dad felt a profound sense of relief and joy. They knew this opportunity would not only provide Anasofia (and later their younger children) with an excellent education, but also immerse them in a supportive community that shared their values.

Following in their big sister's footsteps, Andrea, Mario Emiliano, and Isabella also attended St. Anthony followed by Seattle Preparatory School. Andrea and Anasofia graduated with honors from Gonzaga University. The schools nurtured their faith, encouraged their academic potential, and shaped their dreams for the future. Erika and Mario are deeply thankful to Fulcrum and its donors who made this possible. They often reflect on "the kindness and generosity of those who reached out to help a family they had never met. It is a reminder of the goodness in the world and the impact of a community coming together to support one another."

With the assistance of Fulcrum and the schools, the Gutierrez family is thriving. Anasofia now serves as the director of Christian service at Visitation Preparatory School in Georgetown. Andrea (22) is serving at Seattle Preparatory School as member of the Alumni Service Corps, and the younger two children are completing their high school careers.

Erika is known as Mrs. Gutierrez by her own students as she is now the Librarian and Kindergarten Aide at St. Anthony School! She is enjoying the newly renovated library and school campus made possible by a partnership between Fulcrum and Shea Homes. In her 'spare' time, she

An Inspiring Community of Educators

From a very young age, Paulina Thurmann dreamt of being an educator. Her greatest mentors were those she witnessed walking amongst vulnerable populations and devoting their lives to building a just world through humble leadership.

Paulina was blessed to attend Catholic schools as a child, graduating from Archbishop Mitty High School in San Jose, California. She also served at the Cristo Rey school in Philadelphia through the Jesuit Volunteer Corps. Enrollment at Gonzaga University brought her to Washington State, and she knew immediately the Northwest would be her home.

Landing a position as the Campus Minister at Eastside Catholic, Paulina was elated and ready to put her long-awaited aspirations into practice mentoring young people, leading retreats, and organizing service immersion opportunities. Her excitement was replaced by distress, however, when she began to search for housing and faced the rising costs of living in the Seattle area.

Clearly the Holy Spirit was at play when Paulina learned from a friend about the innovative housing program opening in the Ballard neighborhood of Seattle. The Fulcrum Foundation and the Office for Catholic Schools partnered to renovate the former convent at St. Alphonsus Parish to create affordable housing units for new educators teaching in the Archdiocese of Seattle. Paulina knew this program was an answer to her prayers as the affordable all-inclusive rent was well within her budget. What she did not predict, however, was how her new home would enrich her life and new career in profound ways.

Intentional communities are designed around a shared set of values and goals. For Catholic educators, this typically means a focus on faith, service, and education. The St. Alphonsus community includes shared living spaces, communal meals, and collaborative decision-making, creating an environment where educators support each other both personally and professionally.

Paulina shares “I knew I was getting a great deal on rent, but I had no idea I was joining a group of fellow young educators who would become my new Pacific Northwest family.” Teachers share resources, collaborate on projects, and offer mutual encouragement, which enhances their effectiveness in the classroom. Regular prayer and faith-based discussions become integral parts of daily life, deepening their spiritual lives and strengthening their commitment to their vocation.

As the demand for innovative housing grows, the model of intentional community living for Catholic educators presents a compelling option. It addresses the pressing need for affordable housing while fostering a supportive, mission-driven environment. It is a powerful example of how faith-based principles can address contemporary challenges in education and housing.

Paulina is grateful “both for the practical benefits of this living arrangement, and the opportunity to enrich my personal and professional life.”

Leaving a Legacy for Catholic Education

Fr. Paul Magnano is a founding member of the Fulcrum Board of Trustees and a current Emeritus member of the board. He currently serves as parish priest in Seattle at Christ Our Hope, Immaculate Conception, and St. James Cathedral. Fulcrum has been blessed by his leadership, commitment to Catholic education, and generous stewardship for over two decades.

The importance of accessible Catholic education cannot be overstated. I am deeply proud of the Fulcrum Foundation's dedication to shaping a brighter future for thousands of young people throughout Western Washington.

My own life—including my decision to pursue the priesthood—is heavily influenced by Catholic education. My father was in the first class at Seattle's St. Therese Catholic Academy and a graduate of Seattle Preparatory School and Seattle University. My mother attended the former St. Margaret School and graduated from Holy Names Academy and Seattle University. I am one of their eight children and a proud alumnus of Seattle's St. Anne School, Seattle Preparatory School, and the Gregorian University in Rome. Our Catholic school roots are deep, and we understand the transformative power of faith-based learning.

Nearly twenty-five years ago, Fr. Stephen C. Rowan, Archbishop Alex Brunett, and other remarkable individuals shared with me their foresight and vision for what would soon become the Fulcrum Foundation. It didn't take much convincing to get me hooked and I was proud to serve as a founding board member for this great organization.

As a pastor and advocate for youth and young adult ministries, I have seen the profound impact of Fulcrum time and time again. From families needing an extra boost to make their tuition affordable, to the lives changed by the innovative leaders in our schools—the tireless work of Fulcrum is changing lives.

When I sat down recently to update my estate plans, I reflected on the mission of Fulcrum. I was filled with gratitude for my own parents and past generations who made Catholic education possible for me and my siblings. And I knew I wanted to leave a similar legacy for future generations to experience the great fortune of a Catholic education.

My decision to support Fulcrum with a planned gift brings me continued joy and satisfaction. I know I have made a commitment to ensuring that the values and principles imparted in our schools will continue to thrive long after my lifetime.

Catholic schools are not merely educational institutions; they are communities that nurture the spiritual and intellectual growth of students. The generosity of many good people allows Fulcrum to sustain and enhance these communities and continue their vital work.

Like you, I look forward to the future with optimism. With a foundation for continued growth and excellence in Catholic education we are ensuring that the values of Catholic education continue to enrich lives for generations to come.

Vignettes of the 2023/24 Academic Year

Catholic Lifesaver Corps Completes Year Two

Catholic Lifesaver Corps (CLC) is a unique peer-to-peer suicide prevention program in the Archdiocese of Seattle funded by Fulcrum. CLC consists of a team of high school students who are trained and certified as facilitators of the 4-hour safeTALK suicide prevention workshop. They, in turn, offer regular trainings in their respective schools and nearby parishes to educate fellow students on the signs of suicidal ideation and the necessary steps to keep their peers safe.

Bishop Frank Schuster Shares His Support of Fulcrum

Bishop Schuster joined small groups of Fulcrum supporters for regional gatherings throughout the archdiocese. They heard his Catholic school story and learned more about Fulcrum's work in our local communities.

Strategic Plan: Year Two

The Fulcrum staff joined the Office for Catholic Schools team for an inspiring retreat launching year two of Fulcrum's strategic plan featuring program growth and development and increasing revenue sources.

INSPIRE Grows!

The annual INSPIRE conference funded in part by Fulcrum moves to Seattle University to accommodate more than 300 school leaders dedicated to advancing innovation in Catholic schools and parishes, driving the mission of sharing the Gospel in today's world.

Featuring an exceptional lineup of speakers from across the country, INSPIRE was packed with creative ideas and today's best practices to strengthen operational vitality.

Celebration of Light Honorees

At Fulcrum's annual Celebration of Light event, Richard and Maude Ferry were honored with the Archbishop's Award recognizing their decades of service and commitment to Catholic education. The Ferry Foundation partnered with Fulcrum in 2020 to launch the Becraft Scholars Program, a scholarship-based equity program for archdiocesan schools.

Edmonds Family Fund

Joe and Lucy Edmonds introduced the Edmonds Family Fund with a $1 million gift to Fulcrum's Tuition Assistance Grant Program. This initial gift will provide hundreds of additional tuition assistance grants to deserving students annually.

Chairman's Leadership Event Returns

Fulcrum's volunteers and major donors gathered for an inspiring celebration recognizing the many gifts and talents that come together to ensure vibrant and accessible Catholic schools in Western Washington.

Alana Bell is a National Panelist

Fulcrum's Becraft Scholars Program Director, Alana Bell, spoke about the importance of belonging in Catholic schools at the national FADICA conference in New Orleans. The Becraft Scholars Program is grounded in a commitment to fostering a culture of belonging with a focus on Black and African American families. Throughout the year, Becraft families participate in activities and programs in their schools and in the community.

Teachers in Affordable Housing

The Fulcrum-funded Innovative Housing Project at St. Alphonsus Parish in Ballard provided its first year of affordable housing to Catholic school teachers in an increasingly high cost of living area.

Hopes for a Future High School

A Fulcrum-funded feasibility study is launched in the northern deanery to determine the viability and sustainability of a future Catholic high school to serve students in Whatcom, Skagit, Island, San Juan, and northern Snohomish counties.

Recognition in the Community and Beyond

The Puget Sound Business Journal honored Shea Homes with its prestigious Corporate Citizenship Award for their partnership with Fulcrum renovating and transforming Catholic schools in Western Washington.

Mr. Dick Abrams received a prestigious honor for his tireless dedication to Early Childhood Education (ECE) and the Fulcrum Foundation. Mr. Abrams was presented FADICA Catholic Philanthropy Network's St. Joseph of Arimathea Medal of Service for his humble devotion to discipleship, generosity, and service.

Shea Homes Summer Projects

In partnership with Shea Homes, Fulcrum assisted in significant facilities enhancements and campus transformations at St. Anthony School, Renton, St. Therese Catholic Academy, Seattle, Pope St. John XXIII STEM Academy, Tacoma, and Seattle Nativity School, Seattle.

From Our Finance Committee Chair

Dear Fulcrum Supporters,

I am pleased to provide you with the Fulcrum Foundation’s annual financial report for the year ended June 30, 2024. An independent public accounting firm has provided an unmodified opinion that the financial statements are presented fairly in all material respects.

The financial operations of Fulcrum are supported by gifts from thousands of generous supporters throughout the archdiocese as well as the long-term gains from our investments. We are dedicated to being good stewards of the funds in our care and are at all times focused on directing them toward fulfilling the mission of Fulcrum.

Our expenses will be rooted in providing support to our schools, families needing tuition assistance, and dedicated educators in our 74 schools. Our schools are thriving, and we remain grateful for your steadfast commitment to our work. As Jesus reminds us in Luke’s Gospel, “For where your treasure is, there also will your heart be” (12:34).

Please join me in gratitude for the dedicated finance committee who volunteer their time and expertise to manage Fulcrum’s financial resources and ensure we are excellent stewards of your many gifts.
